

PROVIDENCE PRESERVATION SOCIETY

2017 FESTIVAL OF HISTORIC HOUSES

Upper Elmwood Historic District, June 2-3

About the Festival

One of the region's most anticipated events, PPS's June 3 Festival of Historic Houses grants 750 guests with self-guided access to more than one dozen private, historic homes. Upper Elmwood boasts a rare collection of opulent architecture from Providence's greatest industrial growth period in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. New this year will be lunch options representing aspects of the neighborhood's rich cultural diversity. The Festival is also timed with the city's third annual PVD Fest, creating a robust art and architecture experience for weekend visitors and residents alike. Visit ProvidenceHouseTour.com and PVDFest.com for complete details!

About the Preview Party

Join us the evening of Friday, June 2, at the showcase Webster Knight House (c. 1897), the neighborhood's first and largest Colonial Revival. This grand home was built by Robert Knight, founder of B.B. & R. Knight, the original manufacturer of the Fruit of the Loom brand, and designed by celebrated architects Angell & Swift. Party proceeds benefit PPS as well as the beloved Knight Memorial Library, built nearby as a tribute to Webster and Louisa Knight by their children in 1924. More details forthcoming!
